

This is a stunningly bad idea. There is, and should be, an expectation of privacy in correspondence, and allowing the government to violate this is nothing short of criminal. That this idea was even suggested is shameful.